

The day has come for us to depart never will I let you go from my heart. You were always so kind and true. God must have needed you too. You never spoke harsh about your fellow man. You kept your hand in God's unchanging hand. What must I do without you? God said be still and know. That is what I must do. No more pain or sorrow. No more worrying about tomorrow. Only leaving us here with tears to follow. We have so many fond memories of you. That is what will help get us through. Thanks for being you. There will never be another like you. I can't say goodbye. I will say so long for now until we meet each other across the sky. Rest my dear until we meet again. God stood and looked far and beyond and said your job there is done. Well done my child you can come on in. To the family and friends, mask-up COVID-19 is Real!!!

Love,
Aunt Dorothy
