

There are no words that can describe the pain I feel. I just know that the love you had for me will help me heal. You gave me 51 years to get to know and love you. You taught me so much. You were my mother, mechanic, plumber, electrician, babysitter, counselor, and friend. Your love was hard when it needed to be but it was always unconditional. You lived your life to the fullest. You lived by your rules and your way. You always made a way out of no way and when things looked dim you always found a way to bring light. You were one of a kind, a diamond in the rough, and the woman I admired. You gave selflessly of yourself and never once complained. Even in your weakest hour you thought of me. You made sure I would be okay. My promise to you is that I will live life and love my family. My wish is to have half your strength. I love you and will miss your dearly but I know God loves you best.
