A Letter from Mother

My child why do you weep,
When my mortal journey has been complete,
You say that I'm gone, that I'm no longer here,
You wonder who's going to guide you, help you face all your fears You're asking how you'll make it through the tunnel to the light, who's going to stand by your side through the plight, who's going to tell you everything is alright when your spirit is weakened and you have no more fight.

Please listen closely to what I have to say,
For there's an important message I need to relay, God has used me as his vessel and given me keys,
to place you on the path for you to succeed,
It is him you seek, pray and bend your knees and he will allow my wings to cover thee, Physically I'm gone, but my soul is near you can hear it from the slightest whisper in your ear,
As I stated to you earlier my journey is complete,
I leave you with keys for you to proceed, Remember the love, let the memories be sweet and I'll be waiting for you in eternity.

Obituary

Mrs. Bessie Mae Profit Mack, affectionately called Minnie Cat, was born on May 16, 1952, in Calhoun County, South Carolina. She was one of seven children born to the late Elijah Profit, Sr. and Agnes Stewart Profit. She departed this life on Saturday, July 30, 2022, at Lexington Medical Center.

Bessie attended the public schools of Calhoun County, South Carolina. She was a 1971 graduate of St. John High School, Cameron, South Carolina. She then moved to New York, where she attended St. John University. After her return home, Bessie entered the workforce, and began working for several dry cleaning businesses until her health declined.

She was baptized at early age, and joined Felderville A.M.E. Church, Ellore, South Carolina. Bessie later moved her membership to Brookland Baptist Church, West Columbia, South Carolina. She sang on several choirs at the church. Additionally, Bessie taught the Youth Sunday School class and several Vacation Bible School classes.

Bessie was preceded in death by her husband, Robert James Mack, and grandson, Andrew Judiah Brown.

Bessie leaves to cherish her loving memory: children, Anthony Brown, of Dallas, Texas, LaKeisha (Ronald) Jones, of Orangeburg, South Carolina, Quiana (Shaun) Profit, of West Columbia, South Carolina, Michael (Jennifer) Profit, of Portland, Maine, and Carla (Steve) Profit, of Columbia, South Carolina; brothers, Elijah (Sam) Profit, of West Columbia; Carl Profit, of Orangeburg, South Carolina, and Freddie Profit, of Atlanta, Georgia; sisters, Alice Goodwine, of Gaston, South Carolina, Berdia Mae Profit, of Charlotte, North Carolina, and Pernease (Mickey) Profit, of Bronx, New York; a special friend, Debra Oree, of Columbia, South Carolina; her adopted family, Katherine and Ready Wilson, of West Columbia; thirteen grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, a host of nieces, nephews, other loving relatives, and caring friends, all of whom will miss her dearly.
