

Knowledge is power.
Know you. Be you.
Think about who you are. Who you are should be who you want to be. Think about who you are through God and the truth.

Reflections of Her Life

Alia Monique Wright was born on January 7, 1996, in Columbia, South Carolina. The youngest child of Marvin and Brenda Wright, Alia departed this life on Monday, September 26, 2022. Her parents raised her with the belief that faith was the foundation of all things and they chose to develop her spiritual life with the saints at Brookland Baptist Church. During her time as a member at Brookland Baptist Church, Alia was active in Girl Scouts of America, the Junior Usher's Ministry, the Youth and Teens Day Committee, the Spotlight on Youth program, and Vacation Bible School. Alia graduated from White Knoll High School with the class of 2014. At White Knoll High she was a member of several organizations and clubs. She competed locally, regionally, and nationally with her favorite club, DECA. She received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Communications from the University of South Carolina Upstate with the class of 2021. Upon graduation, a multitude of organizations sought out her professionalism and expertise for their establishments. In her leisure, she was also eager to assist her family with a variety of business ventures and technological needs including web design, and creating NFTs. Alia was an outdoor enthusiast that delighted to spend time in the solace and beauty of God's design in nature. She was an artist with a heart for the arts. Alia enjoyed visiting art museums, fashion design, painting, reading, and writing poetry. Her mind was bright and her thoughts were limitless. Her love of philosophy helped shape her worldview, assisted in the development of her first publication, and fueled many passionate discussions with family and friends. Alia was also very altruistic, she volunteered with EdVenture Children's Museum, the Ronald McDonald House, and Upstate Impact. Left to cherish her fond memories: her parents Marvin and Brenda Wright, her brother Matthew G. Wright, her sister Dr. Courtney W. Davis (Dr. Robert L. Davis), and her beloved "little people"- her nephews Mason, Wright, Mansa, and Brooks, and her nieces Carter and Carson. As well as her grandmother Rebecca H. Mack and a host of aunts, uncles, cousins, and other relatives and friends.
