When Tomorrow Starts Without Me

*When tomorrow starts without me, and I'm not here to see,
If the sun should rise and find your eyes, filled with tears for me.*

I wish so much you wouldn't cry the way you did today, while thinking of the many things we didn't get to say.

I know how much you love me, as much as I love you, and each time you think of me, I know you'll miss me too.

*When tomorrow starts without me, please try to understand
That an angel came and called my name and took me by the hand*

*The angel said my place was ready in heaven far above
And that I'd have to leave behind all those I dearly love.*

*But when I walked through Heaven's gate, I felt so much at home
When God looked down and smiled at me from His great golden throne.*

*He said, "This is eternity and all I've promised you."
Today my life on earth is past, but here it starts anew*

*I promise no tomorrow but today will always last
And since each day's the same day, there's no longing for the past.*

*So when tomorrow starts without me, don't think we're far apart,
For every time, you think of me, I'm right there in your heart.*

Acknowledgement

Obituary of Mrs. Beverly Jean Goodwin Jackson

Mrs. Beverly Jean Goodwin Jackson was born on March 2, 1943, to the late Thomas and Elizabeth Goodwin. She departed this life on Thursday, September 19, 2024

Educated in the public schools of Richland County, South Carolina, Beverly attended C.A. Johnson High School, where she was a member of the Johnsonaires and the Casuals Social Club. She later attended Booker T. Washington High School, graduating in 1961. While at Booker T. Washington High School, Beverly was a member of the The Thespians (Theater Group), Political Campaign Manager/Announcer for Franchot A. Brown's Student Council Campaign, and a member of the Political Debate Club. As a young child, Beverly performed at the Palmetto Theatre in downtown Columbia with the Mickey Mouse Club (which at the time, only allowed Black people to audition once a month while others performed the other Saturdays.)

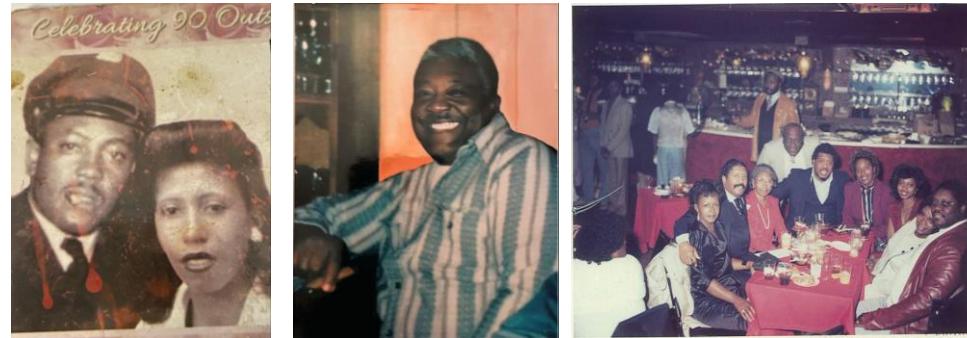

Beverly attended South Carolina State College, then later relocated to New York City. While in New York, she was employed with Macy's. Beverly was selected to be a part of the annual Macy's Day Parade, the second oldest Thanksgiving Day parade in the United States. She was a social butterfly and made friends wherever she went. Beverly later became employed with New York Telephone Company, Pacific Bell (El Monte, California), and retired from AT&T (Columbia, SC), after 26 years of impeccable service. After retiring, Beverly still had a passion to work. She then found employment with Johnson, Toal, and Battiste, P.A., in Columbia, SC.

In 2009, Beverly with the help of some of her lifelong friends, spearheaded a fundraiser to publish a calendar titled, "Classic Calander Ladies." The group was dedicated to promoting the empowerment of women in their community through breast cancer awareness. The ladies featured in the calendar expressed personal stories related to Breast Cancer. Some were survivors, while others had relatives and friends who succumbed to the disease as the result of early detection not being accessible or an option. The group raised $5,000 and donated the funds to the Best Chance Network, which allowed 23 women to receive Breast Cancer and Cervical screenings. Their vision and dedication to this project was successful.

In addition to her parents, Beverly was preceded in death by her husband, Leroy Jackson and two brothers, Thomas Goodwin and Rayford Goodwin.

Mrs. Beverly Jean Goodwin Jackson leaves to cherish her precious memory: her children, Terence Brown and Dawn E. Brown; her only grandson, Jalen Atterbury; sister, Julia A. Gordon; a host of other loving relatives, and caring friends, all of whom will miss her dearly.
