Miss Me But Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road.
The sun has set for me.
I want no rites in a gloom-filled room;
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little, but not too long;
And not with your head bowed low
Remember the love that we once shared
Miss me - but let me go
For this is a journey we all must take;
And each must go alone.
It's all a part of the Master's plan –
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds.
Miss me, but let me go.

*Reflection of the life
of
Mrs. Katrina May Brown*

Mrs. Katrina Brown was born on January 10, 1978, in Washington, D.C. The daughter Jamila Tahmoush and Franklin Baxley, she departed this life on Monday, September 30, 2024.

Mrs. Brown was educated in the public school of Massachusetts, earning her high school diploma. After high school, she went on to graduate from Boston University, in 2001 with a bachelor's degree in Sociology.

Katrina relocated to Columbia SC, where she worked in the corporate office of Staples, until retiring in 2009. She enjoyed traveling with her husband, spending time with family, and friends. Katrina also enjoyed spending time outdoors and shopping.

She was preceded in death by her mother, Jamila Tahmoush; grandmother, Ida Mae Baxley; grandfather, Quber Baxley; grandfather, Hanna Yachouh.

Mrs. Katrina May Brown leaves to mourn her passing: her husband, Tyrone Brown; a stepson, Chancellor Brown, of Douglasville, Georgia; a stepdaughter, Haven Brown, of Douglasville, Georgia; father, Franklin Baxley, Sr., of Williston, South Carolina; grandmother, Marine Yachouh, of Hamilton, Ontario Canada; brother, Franklin Baxley, Jr., of Rhode Island; many other loving relatives and caring friends, all of whom will miss him dearly.
