

Goodbye Letter

	Omat,
Dear
I am saying goodbye because	I love you with all of my heart.
Saying goodbye makes me feel	Sad
I want you to know that	I will always love you
I will miss not being able to	Play with you, like Jenga
I feel sad that you will not be there when I	Feel sad. You were always there for me.
What I miss most is	Your hugs
If you were here now, you would tell me	I love you
If you were here now, I would tell you	I miss yu and I will see you when we all go away
I remember a time when we	Went to Lego Land even though PaPa love it more
I feel good knowing that	You will be okay because you are in heaven
One thing you taught me is	How to play checkers and jenga
Thank you for	Being my grandma and being that best
I will always remember	Your great heart
Love,	Seth

Obituary of Mrs. Elma “Pam” Murphy Dunton

On September 5, 2025, Elma “Pam” Murphy Dunton loving mother, grandmother, and devoted servant of God passed away at age 74. Pam was born on February 24, 1951, in Pender County (Curie) North Carolina. She was the beloved daughter of Charlie Murphy and Alice Alderman-Murphy.

Pam began her educational career in Pender County. She finished her trek through the educational system with her high school graduation as well as several hours of college credit. She spent most of her early years in North Carolina then moved to Baltimore, Maryland where she met her husband and lifelong partner Ray M Dunton.

Pam began her secular career as a telephone operator with AT&T. She left soon after the birth of her third son, still seeking that daughter she always wanted, to become a full-time mother. After her baptism as a Jehovah’s Witness in 1981 she became a full-time pioneer, spending countless hours in the ministry talking and teaching all she met about God. (Phil 1:14) Pam was known for her smile and kind words at the right time. She was also well known for her love of singing, walking and enjoying nature, as well her love of cutting a rug.

She was preceded in death by her husband Ray M Dunton and several brothers and sisters. She is survived by her sons, Elvin James Ill, William Dunton (Kinshasha), and Robert Dunton. Her sister Janice Hansley and brothers David, Jerry, and Butch. As well as 4 grandchildren and 1 great grandchild. She also will leave a host of nieces, nephews and lifelong friends missing her presence. We will always love you, Pam.
