Family and Friends

In Vicky's own spirit, her family shares these words:

"Don't think of me as gone away, my journey's just begun. Life holds so many facets, this earth is but one. Just think of me as resting from the sorrows and the tears, in a place of warmth and comfort where there are no days and years. Think of how I must be wishing that you could know today how nothing but your sadness can really go away. And think of me as living in the hearts of those I touched, for nothing loved is ever lost, and I know I was loved so much."

Obituary

Victoria "Vicky" Barrow-Legree, born on October 7, 1963, in Harlem, New York, passed away on May 2, 2026, at Lexington Medical Center, Lexington, South Carolina, after a courageous battle with lung cancer. She was 62 years old.

“Vicky” was the kind of person who lit up every room she walked into. With her sharp wit, her unapologetic honesty, and a sarcasm that could make anyone laugh, she left an impression on everyone she met. She was never afraid to speak her mind, yet she carried a kindness and understanding that made people feel truly seen. She would give the skin off her back for her family and friends without a second thought, and that generous spirit defined everything she did.

For more than twenty years, Vicky dedicated herself to The Home Depot, where she gave her all to her fellow teammates and became a beloved presence in the workplace. She participated in numerous volunteer projects through her job, always looking for ways to give back to those around her. Her commitment and warmth earned her deep respect and lasting friendships.

Outside of work, Vicky had a green thumb and loved spending time in her garden. She was passionate about DIY projects and enjoyed trying new foods whenever the opportunity arose. She also carried an early love for art and photography, a creative spark that spoke to the depth of her spirit.

Vicky is survived by her beloved mother, Eartha Barrow; her loving husband, Brian M. Legree, Sr; her two devoted sons, Venson Legree and Brian Legree; her cherished nieces, Asiyah Barrow and Alana Barrow, along with a wide circle of friends and extended family, who will miss her dearly.

A woman of deep and abiding faith, Vicky walked with the Lord throughout her life and found strength, peace, and purpose in her relationship with Christ. Her family takes comfort in knowing she is now resting in God's eternal embrace, free from sorrow and pain.
